At best, the factory will send replacement parts and panels, if they break or malfunction within a certain time frame. That being said, the supplier never cover the air freight cost, which can be higher than the cost to procure parts at home. That assumes that the factory will even bother to honor the so called warranty at all.

I took a deep breath and remembered my manager's advice. Ultimately, I was able to ask the right questions and propose a creative solution that would keep us on track. Currently, nearly 25,000 photovoltaic panels are installed at our manufacturing sites in Dubai - the electricity they produce makes a major impact on our emissions.
