How much do solar panels cost in the Netherlands?

A standard system of 10 solar panels, including inverter and labor expenses, in the Netherlands costs a Dutch citizen on average of EUR4400 or EUR1.63 per watt-peak (Wp). This is 15 euro cents less than in 2016, when the same system would have cost EUR1.78 per Wp.

What is a solar water pump system?

The concept of a solar water pump system is still relatively new. However, like all other water pumping systems, the mechanics are quite similar. It relies on the basic principle of positive displacement and kinetic energy, which is used to move water from one point to another.

How does a solar water pump work?

As the name implies, a solar water pumping system draws energy from the sun. This energy is converted into mechanical energy, which is used to move water from one point to the next. Solar water pumping works as well, if not better than other water pumping systems such as fossil fuel pumps. Read on to find out more about solar water pumps.

When was solar water pumping invented?

Solar water pumping was invented in the 70s. At the time, the system was quite basic, and it paired solar panels to a DC/AC water pump. Since then, it has gone on to be perfected. Today, the solar water-powered pump can be found in different industries such as the agricultural sector, industrial sector, and domestic settings.

What are the benefits of using a solar pump system?

One of the benefits of using a solar pump system is that it lets you utilize low-yield water sources. With a solar pumping system, you can potentially cut the cost of installing long pipelines. Since the length of the pipes does not affect the energy needed to pump water, the water can be pushed over long distances at a low cost.
